

WEBINAR

NUCLEAR DETERRENCE

Guarantee of or Threat to our Security

28th November 2024, 5 pm - 6 pm (CET)

With the increased tensions and re-appearance of war in Europe the term "nuclear deterrence" is heard more often in public discourse. The speakers will discuss whether it is realistic today to base the security of a country on the theory of deterrence. Is it possible to argue that the world has been spared a nuclear war since 1945 due to nuclear deterrence? Could nuclear deterrence fail and what would be the result of such a failure?

Panelists:

Dr. Francesca Giovannini, Belfer Center of Harvard University

Dr. Benoit Pelopidas, Professor Security Studies at Sciences Po, Paris

Dr. Laura Considine, Assoc. Prof. Intl. Politics, Leeds University

Dr. Kjölv Egeland, Senior Researcher at NORSAR, Norway

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER

